

Diagram of a beam with a triangular support. The beam has a total length of 450 units. A triangular support is located 130 units from the left end and 245 units from the right end. The distance between the support and the right end is labeled as 245.

